

DESTINATION PARTNERSHIPS

I'm always on the hunt for new partnerships to explore places not-too-far from my home: Columbus, Ohio. Some of my most popular blog posts have been ones for recommendations of day-trips and overnight trips from Columbus. Consider partnering with me to promote your area to my followers! Below are examples of previous, successful partnerships.

Traveling with Nina
March 5 · 🌐

Before you throw tomatoes at an Ohio girl visiting our rival city, hear me out. I think it's time we put away our differences and embraced the beautiful state of Michigan. Once you hear all the great things to see (and especially to eat) in Ann Arbor, I'm sure you'll be ready to let bygones be bygones. [1,035 more word]

<http://travelingwithnina.com/travel-guide-ann-arbor/>

Travel Guide: Ann Arbor

Before you throw tomatoes at an Ohio girl visiting our rival city, hear me out. I think it's time we put away our differences and embraced the beautiful state of Michigan. Once you hear all...

travelingwithnina
General Lewis Inn & Restaurant

travelingwithnina When you drive into Lewisburg, you read a sign that says "Coolest small town in America 2011." And really, it's living up to the hype. It's a charming town; filled with cool restaurants, old buildings and my personal favorite, history! 🍪

The General Lewis Inn was named after a general in the French and Indian War, who also served in the Revolutionary War. This inn has been in operation since 1929, and our room has original wood floors. It's really a charming place. Two details I love: the swing music playing in the bar and the cookie jar at reception. You had me at cookies and "old." #hosted .

📍
📷
📌

256 likes
4 DAYS AGO

Add a comment... 🌐

TRAVELING
With Nina